

Wanted – three generation auto working family for money makeover!!

Check out the TIME blog on Detroit:

<http://detroit.blogs.time.com/>

According to LP resident Bill Dickens, here's the word – and request - from Time magazine freelance journalist and Michigander Karen Dybis:

<http://detroit.blogs.time.com/author/kdybis/>

By the way -- I could use some help! As part of the Assignment Detroit project, the magazine is seeking three generations (related in some way) who work in the automotive industry. The family gets a money makeover; the magazine gets a great story.

Here's the perfect scenario: First generation worked the assembly line. Second generation is now white collar. Third generation may or may not work for the auto companies, but they are done with college.

If you know a family like this, let me know! Money (magazine) would like to interview the family and offer them a full financial review FREE of charge. All three generations would receive no-charge advice from a financial planner about whatever money issues/problems/challenges they have.

One catch: The magazine would publish some of this information in the story about the family.

The goal is to tell the story of Detroit through one family's point of view -- as reflected by the area's connection with the auto industry.

Please let me know if you can help! And feel free to email this to EVERYONE you know -- the magazine really wants this story!

Per Bill:

“Can we put this out on the list server for the Lafayette park area?”

Surely we can find a family meeting these conditions.

They could contact either Karen or me” ----- So, LP50 – get cracking and find a 3-generation auto family!!!